THE RELIGIOUS CENSUS.

It is earnestly desired that Bryan shall make a good showing in the religious census to be taken tomorrow, the final announcement of which is published elsewhere in this paper. There are, in round numbers, a hundred earnest men and women who are doing this work without compensation, except that which comes from the performance of a labor of love. Every assistance and encouragement should be given them.

This movement is nation-wide and extends as far as possible into every nook and corner of our great country.

WALTER J. HIGGS, BRYAN TEXAS

PARAGRAPHS CONTRIBUTED BY COMMERCIAL SECRETARIES.

In a recent report compiled by the Manufacturers' Record on 'Southern progress Texas is shown as having a vast quantity of undeveloped mineral wealth, and twenty-one different kinds of minerals are listed in the Texas column. Asphalt, cement, clays, coal, gold, iron, fullers earth, gypsum, iron ore, lead, lime, mineral waters, natural gas, petroleum, precious stones, quicksilver, salt, sand and gravel, silverstone and zinc are all found in paying quantities beneath Texas soil. The mineral fields of Texas have never been examined by the state, although the United States government has explored a portion of our coal fields and found 8,000,000,000 tons of bituminous coal and 23,000,000,000 tons of lignite. The state should establish a department of mineralogy to investigate our mineral fields and the sentiment is growing every day for such a department.

The family garden, the poultry and the cow are great cash economizers and pocketbook conservers, and may be classed with the teams and tools as essential to farm equipment.

Texas is able to offer inducements to all industrial enterprises and our laws offer full protection to every dollar invested in the state. Combined with these inducements are climatic conditions which make possible the greatest degree of physical comfort and mental activity the year round. The fact that the temperature of Texas is free from extremes of cold or heat, that there is seldom a day in the year that workers with hand or head can not put forth the fullest measure of energy, gives the highest productive efficiency. The fact that a large portion of Texas' wage-earners are also home-owners is not only an element of economic advantage to Texas, but contributes to create a body of contented and conservative workmen. Come to Texas.

The telephone eliminates time and space and enables the farmer to personally visit the markets and talk with buyers without the inconvenience of travel or loss of time.

A "TRUE" FARMER'S WIFE.

Takes Up the Cudgel in Defense of Mr. Cook.

To the Editor of The Bryan Eagle: As a "Farmer's Wife" has taken up the cudgel against Mr. Cook, and he may feel a delicacy in replying, I decided I would send in a few thoughts. I have been wondering if she has not transcended the limits of her impoundment. Mr. Cook is not the only one that has taken offense; he merely voiced the sentiments of the farmers generally. I can not possibly think how she, a farmer's wife, finds time to attend the Civic Club in the city of Bryan. What disposition does she make of the chickens and babies while she is attending clubs? When did she ever see one of the planters mentioned driving a six-mule team through the streets of Bryan? More likely she has seen them dashing around in automobiles. Again, I ask why has she taken up the cudgel? Does she not consider the men of Bryan competent to defend themselves? We feel like she was giving us "tuffy." I wonder if she really knows which cow gives the buttermilk.

"A LEG OVER THE TRACE."

To the Editor of The Bryan Eagle: I have been following the controversies between the Bryan boosters, town and country. The gentlemen have been somewhat hard on each other, and that without fully intending to be so. If I judge them correctly, the fault lies in a little overenthusiasm. Like a
